Total $550,530.71 Tax Bills

Payment Deadline Is December 6

The end of the month brought another bill (though not an unexpected one) into Appomattox homes and businesses last week as county treasurer John G. Plunkett mailed tax notices for real estate, tangible personal property, machinery and tools, merchants' capital, farm machinery and livestock.

Revenue estimates by the board of supervisors for the fiscal year which began July 1, 1969 total $525,000 expected from current levies. It should be encouraging to the board that the estimate added up by treasurer Plunkett in reviewing tax expectations Thursday is higher by more than $25,000. Plunkett's total: $550,530.71, an increase of some $15,000 over last year's figure of $535,-998.15.

The increase is seen in approximately $6,000 additional taxes from real estate (new homes and home improvements); an increase of $5500 in taxes from public service corporations and a $3,000 increase in personal property taxes.

Real estate taxes, based on $3.00 per $100 assessed value (30% of fair market value) are expected to bring in $276,296.-37.

Tangible personal property taxes total $65,964.90 at the rate of $3.00 per $100. Machinery and Tools Tax (at the same rate) should total $1,063.50 in local levies. The Merchants' Capital Tax at 60¢ per $100 is expected to bring in an additional $4,743.06 and Farm Machinery and Livestock at $2.00 per $100, $14,696.00.

The treasurer asks taxpayers to send in checks early. There is a 5% penalty added after December 5. It takes only a six-cent stamp to get the payment back; the treasurer's office spent $555.00 in postage, alone, to get notices to the people.

This half-million dollar revenue is about one-third of the total county budget estimate of $1,605,244 which includes costs of operating county offices, the public school system and welfare payments.

State and federal public assistance grants, local 1% sales tax, sales tax revenues returned for school operation, state and federal funds for school operation are other revenue sources from which Appomattox derives income to carry on its many functions.

The Pastor Speaks

Missing the Issue

"I just don't like to come to church."

"I want to wait until I'm better."

"I don't believe I could hold out, I'm too bad."

"I'm trying to be good."

All of these statements represent excuses often heard from those who are not Christians to explain why they cannot become Christians. They all have one thing in common. They miss the heart of the issue. One answer assumes that salvation is in the church. Another assumes that it is in one's own behaviour. Still another assumes there's no hope of salvation for a person because he's entirely too bad. The issue in becoming a Christian is not church, ceasing to curse, or conquering a cantankerous temper. The issue in your relationship to Jesus Christ. John tells us in I John 5:11-12, "This is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life."

When a life-insurance salesman tries to interest you in a new kitchen gadget by saying, "Now, just what does it do and want?", he is not bringing you to face with the real issue. The real issue is: Do you really want this expensive, new-fangled gadget? When a new car salesman asks you, "Do you want a four-door sedan or this car?", that may not be the real issue. The issue is: Do you actually want the car? When your teen-age son asks you politely, "Daddy, what time can I have the car tonight?", that also may not be the real issue. The real question may be: Can he have it?

Being a Christian is not just a matter of going to church, being good, or paying your bills on time. Christians do go to church, should be good, and should pay their bills on time, but the heart of the issue is your relationship to Jesus Christ. If you have Jesus Christ as your personal savior, you have eternal life. If you do not have Jesus Christ as your personal savior, you lack eternal life, and that, in a nutshell, is the real issue. How about you? Do you know God as he has revealed himself in Jesus Christ? Does Jesus Christ who arose from the dead live within you? Is your religion real, or is it something contained within four walls or just in your head? Christianity is a right relationship to Christ, and that relationship is available to you anytime and anywhere.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE LAST FREEDOM

Lesson for November 9, 1969

Background Scripture: Lamentations 3:19-40; Ezekiel 18. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 10:20-23.

Assume that tomorrow an enemy of our country were to launch an unexpected nuclear missile attack on the major cities of the United States and Canada. Although millions are killed in the attack and the ensuing radioactive fallout, there are several million survivors and you and your family are among them.

The enemy quickly occupies the battered nation. Survivors are rounded-up and transported to the enemy's homeland for "slave labor." Your country is a wasteland; your home is in ruins; you are separated from your friends and neighbors. You are thousands of miles away from home in a strange, hostile land.

The Crisis of Faith

What would be your state of mind in such a situation? Would you still believe in, worship, and serve God? Could you still sing your familiar hymns of faith and hope? Could you still "Keep the faith?"

Perhaps as you ponder those questions, even though hypothetically, you may be able to appreciate better the mood and context of the crisis of faith among the Jews in their Babylonian exile. Judah's armies had been smashed, The little nation of Judah lay in devastation, The great temple had been reduced to rubble and ten thousand Jews were carried captive six hundred miles to Babylon where they were to live and work in subjugation. Not only had Judah been defeated, it had ceased to exist!

As we imagine what those people must have felt in their hearts, it may seem to us quite unlikely that the Jews would keep their faith, The circumstances—exile, loneliness, captivity, humiliation — would seem to guarantee the loss of their faith in God. How could the flame of faith, always slender at best, continue to burn after they had experienced all that?

Freedom to Choose

Yet, circumstances do not determine the durability of our faith, They may lead us, push us, tempt us, but they do not make up our minds for us, Only we can do that, Viktor Frankl, the Viennese psychiatrist, discovered this as a prisoner in the Auschwitz concentration camp, Though the Nazis had taken all else from them, Frankl discovered something which could not be taken away: the freedom to "choose one's attitude in any given set of circumstances."

The conditions of the concentration camp were determined by their captors, but the prisoners still had the freedom to determine how they would respond to those conditions, As Frankl puts it: ". . .in the final analysis it becomes clear that the sort of person the prisoner became was the result of an inner decision, and not the result of camp influences alone," (Viktor Frankl, "Man's Search For Meaning," Washington Square Press, Inc, N.Y., 1963), Great is Thy Faithfulness

So it was with the Jewish exiles, The Babylonians dictated the circumstances, but only the Jews themselves could decide how they would respond to those circumstances, They could choose despair and bitterness, or they could choose to continue in their trust in God, They felt both, On the one hand they could say, "Remember my affliction and my bitterness, the wormwood and the gall! My soul continually thinks of it and is bowed down within me." (Lamentations 3:19, 20),

Yet this same voice could go on to confess, "But this I call to mind and therefore I have a hope: the steadfast love of the Lord never ceases, his mercies never come to an end; they are new every morning; great is thy faithfulness." (3:21-23).

So it may be with us in the midst of our circumstances, appointments, our hardships, we still have the last freedom, to choose our response to despair.
